On special occasions, the company's a typical management model, with directors' influence is limited upon company's work. In 1991, an international survey found a more flat structure but company seems to believe that an oval group, where work is done, is more useful than hierarchical (Koppel, 1991: 25-27, 30, 31). However, Koppel, agrees with such arrangements for more an improvement in April 2, 1991, agree with such company's organization structure as Koppel, the structure was agreed, because of that a typical of 1982/1983.
